Introduction

1 What is Teens' English 7 approach?

Teens' English 7 has been developed to address the needs of Uzbekistan young generation of the 21 century. The changes in the book have included inquiry approach leading to project work exemplifying the target learning for a unit. We understand that until the exam changes from traditional grammar based to interaction communicative the teachers will continue to teach for the exam so the approach used in these new materials is the first step towards meeting the needs of the learners and teachers.

Each unit starts with inquiry question, inquiry theme and overview of what the pupils are expected to learn in this unit.

One of the new things introduced in Teens' English 7 is Home Reading given after each unit. We believe that pupils and teachers will enjoy reading the texts that have been chosen carefully to represent a real mix of classic and contemporary literature.

2 What does Teens' English 7 consist of?

Teens' English 7 is the third book in a series of books for secondary classes of English. It follows on from Kids'/Teens' English 1-6 which were published in 2012-2019, and which we hope you and your pupils have already used and enjoyed. It provides material for up to 102 hours of study, arranged in a flexible way to cater for faster and slower classes.

Teens' English 7 consists of a Pupil's Book, a Teacher's Book and a Multimedia Resource.

Teens' English 7* PUPIL'S BOOK

The book is divided into 10 units which cover Year 7. Each unit is broken down into 6 lessons. Each lesson takes up one page. The content of the lesson is listed in the map of the book unit by unit and lesson by lesson. The lessons progress from simple to more complex.

Project Work

The sixth lesson in each unit contains project work. Project work was included in Kids'/Teens' English 2-6 and has proved very successful and popular. It is explained further in the section 'Project Work' below.

Workbook

After unit 10 there are Workbook pages. Workbook pages contain two types of activities: 1) classwork and 2) homework.

Because writing in the textbook is not allowed, pupils have to keep a separate exercise book where they copy the exercises and do relevant activities.

Grammar Reference

After the Workbook of Teens' English 7 there is a handy section 'Grammar Reference' in Uzbek, Russian and Karakalpak. This contains a summary of all the grammar pupils learn during the course. Both teachers and pupils can refer to it.

Wordlist

The final part of Teens' English 7 Pupil's Book is a 'Wordlist' with the vocabulary used in Kids'/Teens' English 1-7 listed in alphabetical order together with parts of speech, transcription and translations into Uzbek, Russian and Karakalpak.

Teens' English 7* MULTIMEDIA RESOURCE

The Multimedia Resource (DVD) contains natural recordings of texts, dialogues, etc. performed by native speakers of various types of English (American, British, etc.) and by good Uzbek speakers of English. It includes all the material needed for the listening activities in the Pupil's Book.

There are various types of activities and exercises involving in the DVD. Some involve simple repetition of words or phrases. Others require pupils to listen to short texts and perform various tasks.

If you find that the space between items on the DVD is too short, use the pause button on your DVD player to give your pupils more time to repeat or respond. To develop pupils' pronunciation skills each unit contains tongue twisters and poems.

If you don't have the DVD, you can read out the DVD script yourself. All DVD scripts are printed either in the Teacher's Book or in the Pupil's Book.

The DVD is designed both for use during the lesson and for pupils to use at home. The DVD is not copyright so please make copies for your colleagues and/or pupils.

Teens' English 7* TEACHER'S BOOK

The Teacher's Book is an essential part of the Teens' English package. Teachers must have it and use it in order to conduct their classes effectively. The Teacher's Book contains:

- aims and objectives of each unit, lesson and activity
- language and culture notes to assist teachers with explanations, answer keys for the activities
- DVD scripts for the Multimedia Resource
- seven Progress Checks and three Tests (with answer keys) which can be used for official marks
- clear explanations for teachers on how to organise the activities in the Pupil's Book
- lists of active and passive vocabulary for each unit

Progress Checks

In the Teacher's Book, after each unit there is either a Progress Check or a Test. There are Progress Checks after units 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9 (after units 3, 6, 10 there are tests – see below). Progress Checks give pupils an opportunity to check how well they have learned the material in the units. They are an effective way of revising and developing pupils' sense of responsibility for checking themselves. For the Progress Check, which is done during the lesson, 45 minutes are given.

Tests

After units 3, 6, 10 in the Teacher's Book we have included tests for you to use for official marks. The tests are based entirely on the material in the Teens' English 7 units so a pupil who has attended classes and completed all class activities and exercises as well as homework tasks should do well.

The listening exercises contained in the Progress Checks and Tests are also recorded on the DVD. If you don't have the DVD, you should read them to your class.

3 Frequently used activities in Teens' English 7

Titles of the lessons and units

They include new words which are not introduced separately in the lesson, so it is essential for the teacher to focus on them during the lessons. Where possible the title includes the vocabulary or language point of the lesson. They are designed to help pupils to understand what the lesson will be about, and to remember it.

Inquiry question and inquiry theme

Each unit starts with inquiry question, theme and overview of what the pupils are expected to learn in this unit. For example,

Unit 1 Where we live

Inquiry question: Why live in a city or village?

Inquiry theme: To understand why a city or town developed in that place

In this unit you will ...

- ✓ read short texts, fact files, emails and poems
- ✓ listen to dialogues and interviews
- ✓ ask for and give personal information
- ✓ learn about importance of water in our life
- ✓ learn about life in big cities and different villages
- ✓ learn how to use maps

Portfolio

According to Council of Europe portfolio supports the development of learner autonomy, plurilingualism and intercultural awareness.

Its main aims are:

- to help learners give shape and coherence to their experience of learning and using languages other than their first language
- to motivate learners by acknowledging their efforts to extend and diversify their language skills at all levels
- to provide a record of the linguistic and cultural skills they have acquired (to be consulted, for example, when they are moving to a higher learning level or seeking employment at home or abroad)

Each pupil should keep his or her works to demonstrate their achievements in their studies. These works are kept and evaluated by a teacher during the whole school year.

At the beginning of the portfolio there is a title page with the name and other information about the pupil, including the photo. Next, there is a list of Pupil Book's Units.

For each unit the pupil should make a file. It can consist of pictures, essays, graphs, opinions, crosswords or any creative work which reflects what the pupils learnt in the unit.

In the multimedia DVD there is a selection of sample portfolio works for each unit. They can be used as possible models, which help the pupils develop their own ideas.

Matching activities

In these kind of activities pupils match the pictures and the new words by guessing the meaning. When they finish, they should check their answers with you or with their partners to find out whether they guessed right or wrong. This activity is much more fun than the traditional method in which the teacher gives the meaning of the new words. It also helps to develop pupils' cognitive skills. e.g. by comparing the English word to any other languages they know and seeing if they can find the meaning in this way. Using one language to learn another is an important skill in foreign language learning. (It doesn't matter if your pupils can't guess, or guess wrong. You will tell them the meaning of words if necessary.)

Use of pictures

In Teens' English 7 all pictures serve a language learning function. There are no pictures just for decoration. The pictures must be used actively during the lessons both by teachers and pupils. Misusing or neglecting the pictures will reduce the effectiveness of teaching and learning.

Listen and repeat

Listen and Repeat activities are mostly done after matching activities or after pupils know the meaning of the words or structures. Research shows that we memorise better if new words or structures are listened and repeated once pupils know the meaning, rather than listening and repeating without knowing the meaning of the new words or structures.

Point and Say

This activity is used to practise new words. It helps pupils memorise the new vocabulary in a practical way rather than learning the new words by heart.

Point and Say is pair work which is done with the help of pictures. Pupil A points to a thing in the picture. Pupil B says the word. After that they take turns.

Games

Game activities are used in Teens' English 7 for two purposes: to warm up the class at the beginning of the lesson and to practise language or a structure which was studied in the lesson. These activities make lessons interesting and fun and often also offer the opportunity to drill language thoroughly. They increase pupils' interest and encourage them to learn more.

Study Skills

In the series the authors tried to introduce more and more activities to develop Study Skills. Study skills work is varied. It includes dictionary tasks such as the use of the Wordlist, using tables, note taking, applying spelling rules, using the Grammar Reference, etc. Study Skills teach pupils how to work practically and prepare them to work independently.

Information gap

Information gap activities practise real communication. In real life we do not know exactly what someone is going to ask us or how someone will reply. In information gap activities pupils must exchange information by asking and answering. Only by communicating successfully can they get the information to complete the task.

It is important that pupils do not show their information to each other. Usually the activity is divided into two parts, printed in different parts of the Pupil's Book so that pupils cannot see each other's information.

Pupil A asks questions about missing information, similarities or differences in the pictures, etc. in his part. Pupil B answers Pupil A's question(s) according to the information in his part. Then Pupil B asks Pupil A questions.

Remember boxes

These are at the bottom of the page in the Pupil's Book and highlight the new language material. They are convenient for teachers and pupils to focus clearly on the objective of the lesson very quickly. While, or after, introducing the new structure or language, teachers are recommended to draw pupils' attention to the examples in the Remember boxes.

Project Work

Project Work is an essential part of this course. It is the final activity in each unit. It is based on all the work covered in the previous lessons. It gives pupils an opportunity to use what they have learnt in these lessons in an unconscious, freer and more personal way with less control by the teacher. There is a variety of projects in Teens' English 7. They include making posters and leaflets and giving presentations as well as debates and writing essays. Project Work provides an opportunity for all pupils to work at their own level; strong pupils will produce longer, more complex work as they fulfil the task, weaker pupils will produce shorter, simpler work. Project Work gives pupils an opportunity to be proud of their work, their knowledge and their creativity.

For this reason, it is very important to display the posters and pictures produced in Project Work around the classroom so that pupils have the chance to look at each other's work. Pupils can also be asked to assess the work of other pupils.

During Project Work pupils are introduced to the writing process when they write ideas and some notes about the topic. Then they use their notes to write descriptions, articles, letters, stories and poems, make posters and programmes. They cut out and draw pictures, maps, graphs, organise interviews, etc. For this purpose, it is useful for the teacher to have a box with materials, scissors, rulers, paper, glue, paper clips, etc. Or before the Project Work lesson the teacher could ask pupils to bring these things.

Another very important point is the choice of the Project. From the very beginning Project Work must not be difficult and it is better to divide it into several parts or steps.

It is better to organise Project Work in the same groups because pupils cooperate with each other continuously. Further detailed methodological help for each Project lesson is given in the Teacher's Book.

Note that Project Work posters could be used to show parents their children's progress in English.

Debates

Debates help pupils develop their critical thinking skills and consider a problem from different points of view. Debates also are an important new feature in Teens' English 7. They help pupils to build their confidence in speaking because pupils are not thinking about language accuracy but about proving their point of view. While preparing for debates pupils read previous lessons to find information for the debate. In this way debates encourage pupils to read effectively to get information. Debates also help pupils to become active listeners. While listening to their opponents, they try to find contradictions and make counter-arguments.

Here are the steps for how to organise the debates. The procedure looks complicated, but we have trialled it in a number of schools and pupils have enjoyed it very much. We hope you and your pupils will enjoy it too.

Steps I and II will only be needed the first time you organise a debate.

Explain to pupils that for effective debating they should respect each other's opinion and be polite. The aim of debating is not to find out whose point of view is correct but to exchange opinions, express diversity, and have fun.

Step I

Elicit what pupils know about debates. You could ask questions such as:

- 1) What is a debate?
- 2) Where do we have debates?
- 3) Have you ever taken part in a debate? When? What was the debate about?
- 4) Who takes part in debates?
- 5) Why do we have debates?
- 6) What happens in a debate?
- 7) Where do we sit in a debate?

Step II

Explain that today the class is going to hold a debate. They are going to debate the topic (motion), for example, 'Sport is always a good thing. We should have sports lessons every day at school.' The class will be divided into two. Half of the class agree with/are for the motion, and half disagree/are against.

Step III

Choose one pupil to be the chairperson. You could choose the best student in the class (so that s/he does not dominate the debate or inhibit other pupils from speaking) or you could choose a shy student who might not normally speak.

Step IV

Tell the groups they should prepare a piece of paper with a line down the middle. On the left hand side they should write the reasons they think the other group will give. On the right hand side they write their reasons. Each person in the group should have their own copy of the list.

Write the following table on the blackboard and tell pupils to do the task according to it.

For	Against
good for health	wastes time

Groups have 10 minutes to write their lists.

Step V

Once groups have started on their lists and you are confident they know what to do, brief the chairperson on his/her role and give him/her a slip of paper with some of the things she/he can say.

e.g.

Ladies and gentlemen. Welcome to class We are here today to debate the motion Pupils for the motion are sitting on my left, pupils against the motion are sitting on my right. We have ... minutes for the debate. Please raise your hand when you wish to speak. I decide the person to speak. Please be polite and don't interrupt. No-one may speak for more than 1 minute. At the end we are going to have a vote. Let's begin. (Turns to the 'For' group).

Your time is up.

Next speaker please.

Order! Order!

That's all we have time for.

Please vote now. If you are for the motion, raise your hand. (Counts.) If you are against, raise your hands. (Counts).

The Fors/Againsts are the winners.

Step VI

Revise how to give an opinion, if necessary, and how to agree/disagree. If necessary, write the phrases on the blackboard.

e.g. I think that.....

Sorry, I don't agree. We know that..... so

It's true that..... but

Step VII

Ask pupils to arrange the classroom with the "Fors" opposite the "Againsts" and the chairman in the middle. Give each person except the chairman a small piece of paper. When a pupil speaks, s/he puts the paper in a box. Every pupil must get rid of the paper, no pupil can speak if s/he has used her paper. This ensures that all pupils take part and no pupil dominates.

Explain that you will not take part in the debate. The chairperson is in charge and pupils must do what he/she says. Explain that at the end of the debate the chairperson will ask everyone to vote. At that point they may vote according to their own ideas, not according to their role in the debate.

Step VIII

Ask the chairman to begin the debate by reading from the paper you have given him/her. Do not interrupt the debate, try to sit in an inconspicuous place and note down any repeated mistakes pupils make, any particularly good things they say, any things they want to say but can't/or say in mother tongue. You will need these notes for feedback at the end of the debate.

Make sure that after the given minutes the chairperson ends the debate and organises the vote.

Step IX

After the vote bring the debate to a close. Let pupils return to their proper seats. Then ask them for feedback on the activity. You could ask:

Did you enjoy the debate?

Why?/Why not?

Then you can tell them your feedback on their performance.

Pre, while and post reading/listening activities

In Teens' English series three steps are used to read or listen effectively. They are pre, while and post reading/listening activities.

Pre-reading/listening activities are done before reading/listening texts. They arouse pupils' interest in the topic, encourage them to predict information, bring them closer to the ideas in the reading/listening text.

While-reading/listening activities are done during the process of reading/listening to a text. They help readers/listeners understand the content of the reading/listening passage, the way passage is organised and the writer's purpose.

Post-reading/listening activities are done after reading/listening to the text and they take the reader/listener beyond the text. They encourage readers/listeners to relate the text to their own views, interests and knowledge and/or to do something with the information they have learnt from the text.

The objective of the three step approach is to make reading/listening manageable and also to help pupils to read in a natural way. In real life, for example, if we read the newspaper, first we look at the headlines and get a general idea. Then we look/read in more detail.

Reading and Listening text types

The reading and listening texts in Teens' English 7 are real life texts. There is a wide variety of text types: newspaper and magazine articles, advertisements, extracts from dictionaries and encyclopedias, labels and packets, letters, radio broadcasts, live interviews, speeches at competitions, etc.

Integration of skills

In Teens' English 7 the four language skills: listening, speaking, reading, writing are taught in an integrated way. The reason is that there are few cases in real life when we do not talk or write about what we have read or when we do not relate what we have read to something we might have heard. Therefore we have tried to link different skills to each other through various activities such as:

- reading and writing, e.g. reading and filling in the tables, writing summaries, writing an answer to a letter, writing about oneself, note making, writing questions, writing opinions, etc.
- reading and listening, e.g. reading and checking the information through listening, matching text and opinions, etc.
- reading and speaking, e.g. reading and answering questions, saying True or False information, discussing the information in the text, debating, etc.
- listening and reading, e.g. listening and putting the texts in order, finding the required information in the text, etc.
- listening and writing, e.g. listening and completing the missing information, completing tables, writing opinions, etc.
- listening and speaking, e.g. listening and answering questions, discussing, etc.

Extra Grammar Exercises

These introduce extra exercises for the grammar that was practised in a lesson or a unit. The purpose of using extra grammar exercises is to give more practice and consolidate the grammatical knowledge already gained, and to give support to weaker pupils or pupils who need more practice in grammar. These exercises can also be used to give pupils the opportunity to work independently and autonomously. The extra grammar activities are given in the Multimedia Resource.

4 The Teens' English Approach

Teens' English follows the State Educational Standards and syllabus for foreign languages that were developed and approved by the Scientific Methodical Council on Foreign Languages in February 2017. The syllabus is based on topics which were chosen after consulting pupils and teachers in different parts of Uzbekistan.

Teens' English aims to help pupils develop the four Language Skills: reading, listening, speaking and writing. There is an emphasis on teaching Modern English for Communication so special attention is paid to speaking and listening, which in the past have often been neglected. Of course young learners also need a good foundation in Vocabulary, Grammar and Pronunciation so these are also developed systematically. The vocabulary in Teens' English has been chosen and organised according to topics, and grammar is taught as an integral part of communication. Book 7 also begins the process of developing translation skills systematically. At this level translation is used to compare and contrast new structures and vocabulary in English and the mother tongue. The purpose is to make pupils aware that there is not a one to one correspondence between English and the other languages they know.

The main difference between Teens' English and other textbooks you may have used is that Teens' English encourages a learner-centred approach to teaching.

What does this mean? We feel that in the past there has been too much focus on the role of the teacher in the learning process and not enough on the learners themselves. Of course teachers are very important too but research has shown that pupils learn to communicate more effectively if they are given frequent opportunities to practise and experiment with new language. So the learner-centred methodology used in Teens' English aims to put the pupils - the learners - at the centre of most things that happen in the classroom.

For this reason Teens' English contains many activities, exercises, debates, projects and games, which encourage pupils to use the new language naturally through working in pairs or in groups.

Of course you will still need to present new vocabulary and grammar to your pupils, but in the learner-centred classroom you will also spend a lot of time organising and monitoring pair and group work.

Organising the Learner-Centred Classroom

Your pupils will often work in pairs, threes and fours, so it is worth working out in advance of the lesson, how you will organise these groupings. Once pupils have made their groupings a few times, they will remember them and make groups quickly.

The Role of the Teacher in the Learner-Centred Classroom

One of the reasons that pupils are often unsuccessful in real-life communication is that the types of interaction they are most used to are as follows:

a The teacher lectures a class. The interaction is all to the teacher or through the teacher.

b The teacher asks one of the pupils to come to the front of the class and either listens to her/him or talks with her/him.

c The teacher listens to or talks with one of the pupils, who remains at her/his desk.

d The teacher asks two pupils to speak to each other (e.g. present a dialogue they have learnt by heart).

If pupils are asked to speak to each other they usually take turns in speaking rather than communicating naturally. Moreover, the teacher is at hand, listening to everything that is being said. If the teacher organises pairs and groups, pupils will be able to communicate in a more natural way.

While communicative activities are in progress, the teacher no longer “teaches”, s/he organises, sets up activities and ‘monitors’ them discreetly, that is s/he listens to the pupils and makes sure that everything is in order. The teacher should help only if s/he is quite certain that his/her pupils cannot manage on their own. The teacher should be like the conductor of an orchestra: conduct but not play.

At first you may find some of these activities a little difficult to organise but you will soon get used to them. We are sure that your pupils will find them so motivating and enjoyable that they will help you.

Dealing with errors in spoken English

Many teachers nowadays find it difficult to decide whether they should or should not correct every error their pupils make. In the traditional classroom the emphasis is usually on accuracy and all mistakes are corrected immediately. The problem with this is that a lot of pupils will be reluctant to speak for fear of making mistakes and being corrected.

In the learner-centred classroom, where pupils are being encouraged to use English in real communication, fluency is just as important as accuracy. We are not suggesting that correction should be abandoned, but that it can be postponed until after the communication activities in Teens’ English. If you do this, then you will not be constantly interrupting your pupils. Of course you will need to remember the mistakes your pupils make so we suggest you note them down as you walk around the classroom. At the end of the activity you can point out some of the common or more important mistakes you noted.

Noise

In a learner-centred classroom noise is inevitable and should be seen as a good thing provided it is controlled and constructive. Train your pupils to speak quietly and politely during pair and group work and be ready with additional tasks for those who finish their work early. If you give clear instructions before an activity you will find that pupils will be able to do the tasks without confusion and unnecessary noise. Set clear rules on how you expect pupils to talk to you and to one another.

Using Mother Tongue

The authors of Teens’ English believe that English is best learned through English so we expect the teacher to use English as much as possible in the classroom.

Of course there are some instances where pupils will need explanation or clarification in their mother tongue. However, we hope that you will try to resist the temptation to translate everything. Research has shown that pupils learn more effectively if they are encouraged to work out meaning for themselves.

Checking homework

Every experienced teacher has his/her own routine for how to correct homework. Here are some hints for inexperienced teachers.

How?

There are several ways of checking homework.

a Traditional method The teacher takes the children's works and tries to correct every single mistake.

b Non-traditional method The teacher uses two coloured pencils or pens for checking.

Green colour - warning.

When a pupil makes a mistake for the first time, you underline it with the green pen. Here pupils should work on the mistake made.

Red colour - bad.

When a pupil makes the same mistake in many exercises you underline it with red pen. Here pupils should really work hard on the mistake made.

You can correct the mistakes yourself but it is better to give the pupils a chance to do it themselves. You can help your pupils correct their own mistakes by providing the following symbols in the margin:

Gr - grammar mistake, Sp - wrong spelling, WO - word order mistake, P - punctuation.

c Self-checking method Pupils check their own work following a given model (for example the teacher asks pupils and writes the correct answers on the board.)

d Inter-checking method The teacher asks pupils to swap their work and correct any mistakes following a model which they are given.

When?

a While pupils are doing classwork activities, you can go round and quickly and look at their homework. It is a good idea to ask pupils to have two exercise books. One for classwork and one for homework.

b You can assess homework during the Project lesson.

c You can take pupils' exercise books home to assess.

It is essential to collect pupils' work because:

- It is only through doing homework to supplement the three lessons a week that pupils will make good progress. If you do not check the homework, pupils will stop doing it.

- Pupils will make mistakes in their homework as they experiment with the new things they have learned. Every mistake is a learning opportunity if you help them to find it. If you don't, they miss the opportunity to learn, and may even learn something wrong!

- You can see the pupil's progress.

- You can work with the pupil individually.

- You can stimulate your pupils to make displays, competitions, etc.

- It will help you to work with pupils' parents.

Timing

Note that timing is given approximately for lessons. Teachers can change it according to their pupils' needs and abilities.

We water plants to have crops, vegetables, fruits and other agricultural products. Farmers use water for taking care about cows, horses, sheep, poultry and other domestic animals.

B: Water is the most important thing for people, plants and animals to live. People often live near rivers. Main rivers across the earth played an important role in human’s life. We use water for drinking, for washing clothes, for cooking or any other activity at home. If you have pets at home, we must take care of them. We should feed them and give some water every day.

C: People used water to travel from one place to the other. They used ships to carry things. Water transportation was the largest kind of transportation for many years. Today, however, people don’t often use sea travels. They prefer to travel by plane for a long distance. But short water trips are still popular. It’s cheaper than to travel by air.

D: How do you feel when your eyes, nose, or mouth get dry? In fact, we should drink enough water when we’re thirsty. It helps us to have good health. Human body has 75% of water. To stay energetic and active we need to drink a lot of water or other drinks.

My name is Saida. In the summer I went to Singapore with my parents. We stayed in Queen Street, a very busy street in Singapore. It was interesting for me to see how people in a big city live because I live in a village. In my village I get up early and listen to the birds' singing. In Singapore there were no birds' singing. I heard the noise of transport. In my village people go to bed early. Singapore sleeps late at night and the new day starts at four o'clock in the morning.

Near our hotel there were no children in the street. They go to school early in the morning and come back late in the evening. They do not have time to play because they should do their homework.

In our village, things are different. Beautiful nature, clean water and fresh air gives us energy and makes our life enjoyable. There is no noise of buses and cars. People are simple, love each other and enjoy life like one big family. Of course, there are no modern and fast transport, hospitals, big schools and museums.

I was happy when I came back to my village.

PROGRESS CHECK 2

1a Listen and choose the main idea for each text. (3x2=6)

First read the sentences for each text. Then listen to the texts and choose the main idea: A, B or C.

- 1 A What you should have for breakfast.
B You should have breakfast.
C If you have breakfast, you have bad marks.
- 2 A You should help your parents clean the house.
B Viruses are in clean rooms.
C Clean rooms make you healthy.
- 3 A It is better to get up and go to bed early.
B It is better to go to bed early and go to bed late.
C You can play computer games before you go to bed.

Answer key: 1b, 2c, 3a

DVD script:

1) It's important to have a healthy start to the day. Breakfast is the most important meal for children and adults. You're healthier if you have breakfast. If you don't have breakfast, you're usually tired at school and get bad marks.

2) Tidying up the rooms makes you healthy. Children should help their parents to clean the house, take the rubbish out, sweep and wash the floor. There are always bad viruses and dust in the air. If you dust the furniture, clean the rooms and air the rooms, it helps to stay healthy.

3) What's important in the evening is to go to bed at the same time every day. There's an English proverb "Early to bed, early to rise". It means that it's better to go to bed early and to get up early. It makes us healthier and we feel fresh and active the next day. You should not play computer games or play any noisy game before you go to bed.

1b Listen one more time. Say True or False. (3x2=6)

- 1) Breakfast is only an important meal for children. (F)
- 2) Viruses are only in the air. (F)
- 3) It is better to go to bed early and to get up early. (T)

2 Write in the correct column. (4x1=4)

Lesson 1 Keeping active

Aims	Learning outcomes	Vocabulary and structure	Required equipment
Educational: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - to learn the role of muscles and bones Developing: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - to understand what the bones and muscles do Socio-cultural: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - to raise awareness of the need to move and the importance of keeping muscles strong and healthy 	By the end of the lesson, pupils will understand that the skeleton are the bones in our body which make our shape (height) and the muscles make us move.	New words: shoulder, elbow, wrist, hip, knee, ankle	Textbook; the DVD of the book

Activity 1a Work in pairs. Look and think. 8 min

Objective: to understand that the skeleton are the bones in our body which make our shape (height) and the muscles make us move

STEP 1: Get the pupils into pairs. Say: "Look and think. Look at the skeleton and muscle groups inside our body".

STEP 2: Ask: "What can you see? What do you notice?" Accept any reasonable answers including: bones behind the muscles, muscles on top of the bones, bones and muscles look different, lots of gaps between bones, muscles touch each other, no gaps.

STEP 3: Ask: "Why do you think we need bones? What would happen if we didn't have bones? What would we look like?" Accept any reasonable answers including: they make the shape of a person; they hold us up; they are hard; they protect our internal organs, e.g. heart, liver, kidneys, stomach; if we didn't have bones, we would be like a jellyfish with no shape.

STEP 4: Ask: “Why do you think we need muscles? What would happen if we didn’t have muscles? What would we look like?” Accept any reasonable answers including: they make us move; if we didn’t have them, we could not move; if we didn’t have them, we would look like a skeleton, just bones.

Activity 1b Work in pairs. Read and check your guesses. 7 min

Objective: to understand the role of muscles and bones

STEP 1: Ask the pupils to work in pairs. Say: “Read and check your guesses in 1a”.

STEP 2: Elicit feedback, ask the following questions: What’s the main function of our skeleton? (to support the body, protect organs); What’s the main function of the muscles? (to help the body move)

STEP 3: Ask the following questions: What happens if you break your leg? (you can’t walk); What happens if you break your arm? (you can’t write); Why do you need to keep your bones and muscles healthy? (you can’t move if they are not healthy, they break)

Activity 1c Look at the words in the cloud and label the skeleton. 10 min

Objective: to understand what the bones and muscles do

STEP 1: Get the pupils to work in pairs. Get the pupils to look at both the skeleton and the muscle groups in the textbook. Get some feedback about what they notice about the skeleton and muscle groups. Remind the pupils that in Unit 2 they learnt that the human body has 206 bones.

Possible comments: a skeleton is made up of lots of bones, we have a lot of bones inside our body, the bones make our shape, the bones are strong; muscles give us strength, they help us to move our body in different ways.

STEP 3: Ask: “Which is the longest bone in the body? (thigh bone); Which is the smallest bone in the body?” (inside ear)

STEP 4: Say: “Look at the muscles in the arm. Why do you think there are so many muscles?” (so we can move our arm in different directions)

STEP 5: Say: “Look at your arm. Move it to the front of your body. Bend your wrist so the fingers and palm come up. Wriggle your fingers. Pick a pencil up. Touch your desk”.

Teaching tip: You are getting the pupils to become aware of their bodies and the way they work. Without a skeleton and muscles they would not be able to move their bodies.

Activity 2 Look at the pictures. Think. 10 min

Objective: to understand that other living creatures have very different shapes depending on where they live and what they do; not all creatures have skeletons

STEP 1: Say: “Look at the pictures. Think.”

STEP 2: Ask: “Which animals have skeletons? How do you know? Why do they need a skeleton? What can they do?”

a) Which living creatures have skeletons?

Answer key: d,e,f

b) Why do you think the other creatures don't have skeletons?

Possible answers: a) the jellyfish is like a jelly and changes shape, it has no eyes, ears, brain or heart. They do not have a head or blood, their body is made mostly of water (98%) and is very soft; b) the earthworm does not have legs, eyes, teeth or any bones but it does have muscles; c) the butterfly is small and light, its skeleton is outside its body.

Activity 3 Work in pairs. Think. 8 min

Objective: to understand the need to move and the importance of keeping muscles strong and healthy

STEP 1: Say: "Work in pairs and think".

STEP 2: Ask the following questions:

Why do you think animals and people need to move?

What do you think happens when we do not use our muscles?

What should we do to keep our muscles strong and healthy?

Possible answers:

We need to move in order to get things and eat.

If we do not use our muscles, they get weak and do not work. Then we cannot move.

We should do exercises and eat healthily.

Homework 2 min

Answers:

1) Why having fun is good for our health?

Possible answer: When we enjoy doing something we will do it more. People who like dancing, swimming or playing tennis have fun whilst doing something really healthy. Having fun is good for our physical and mental health. When we feel good our mind is healthy. When we feel bad it is difficult to have fun and our mind becomes unhealthy.

2) Where can we learn new things and skills?

Possible answer: We can do activities both inside, e.g. dancing, visiting a museum, going to the gym or outside swimming, playing tennis, walking in the park.

3) What can we do in bad weather?

Possible answers: We can visit a museum and learn about our history/our past.

STEP 1: Put three posters on the wall in different parts of the class. On the first poster draw a ball and a racket. Write a word “play” on the left and ask the pupils to give the words which go with the word “play” from Activity 1a.

play	football tennis volleyball
------	----------------------------------

Ask the pupils to give other suggestions. Add with their help: play chess, play handball, play basketball.

Complete the poster for “Go”, and then with “Do”. Use the notes below if necessary.

Note:

Play is generally used with team sports and those sports that need a ball or similar object (puck, shuttlecock...). Also, those activities in which two people or teams compete against each other: play football, play tennis, play chess.

Go is used with activities and sports that end in -ing. The verb go here implies that we go somewhere to practise this sport: go swimming. Exception: do boxing/body building/weightlifting.

Do is used with recreational activities and with individual, non-team sports or sports in which a ball is not used, like martial arts, for example: do a crossword/puzzle, do athletics, do karate.

tennis	snowboarding	karate
chess	jumping	boxing
basketball	roller skating	kurash
volleyball	skateboarding
handball	cycling

STEP 2: Play “Ball”. Start: throw a ball to Pupil 1 and say, e.g.: “basketball”. Pupil 1 catches the ball and says: “play basketball”. Then Pupil 1 throws the ball to Pupil 2 and says, e.g.: “cycling”. Pupil 2 must say: “go cycling”, etc.

Answer key:

Laila Ali was born on December 30, 1977 in the USA. Ali began boxing when she was 18 years old. She started her fights in 1999 and finished in 2007. Her father is a champion and the most famous boxer in the world. When she told him that she wanted to box professionally, he was very unhappy because boxing is a very dangerous profession. “I move in the ring just like my dad and I am very strong”, she said. She is tall (178 cm) and has 75 kg. Her coach trained her like a man. She is a niece of famous boxer Rahman Ali, the younger brother of Muhammad Ali who was an Olympic champion.

In her first match, on October 8, 1999 Ali boxed April Fowler and won. Although this was Ali’s first match, many journalists came because she was Muhammad Ali’s daughter.

Then Ali had eight wins one by one. On the evening of June 8, 2001, Ali and Frazier finally met. Ali won and became a world champion again. She had 24 fights and she won all of them.

In the match on February 2, 2007 in South Africa Ali defeated O’Neil. It was Ali’s last professional fight.

Reporter: Welcome to the program Sports Life. We're going to talk about good things for girls doing sport. Today's guest in our studio is Valeria Vorobyova who is a very good junior tennis player in Uzbekistan. Hi Lera.

Lera: Hi. Thank you for asking me to come here. ... Yes. There are a lot of good things for girls if they do sport. I started playing tennis when I was 5. Now I'm 15 and I'm in junior group. I play tennis every day. What good things...? OK. First of all, I feel healthy. I never have a cold in winter. Secondly, I'm strong. And I feel strong when I'm in difficult situations. Sometimes I help my friends when they have problems. Finally, I have travelled a lot.

R: How interesting. What countries have you been to?

L: I've been to some countries in Asia, India and Australia. I've eaten some national food there, I've seen a lot of interesting places and animals, I've met a lot of people. And I've found a lot of good friends.

R: Wonderful. But you do professional sport. What about other girls at school?

L: We all do some kind of sport. We have PE at school.

R: Many girls don't like PE. What can they do?

L: We do sport when we move. So any kind of moving is sport. We do sport when we run, walk, swim or dance. Dancing is a very good kind of sport. There are some professional kinds of dancing, national dancing but you can dance at home. You don't have any competitions but you win. You're a winner of your life.

R: Thank you Lera. Good luck in your sports life.

L: Thank you.

Activity 1 Hold a debate “It is not good to do professional sport”. 25 min

Objectives: to revise and consolidate all the material in the unit; to develop pupils’ ability to work independently

Debates help pupils develop their critical thinking skills and consider a problem from different points of view. Debates also are an important new feature in Teens’ English 7. They help pupils to build their confidence in speaking because pupils are not thinking about language accuracy but about proving their point of view.

While preparing for debates pupils read previous lessons to find information for the debate. In this way debates encourage pupils to read effectively to get information. Debates also help pupils to become active listeners. While listening to their opponents, they try to find contradictions and make counter-arguments.

Here are the steps for how to organise the debates. The procedure looks complicated, but we have trialled it in a number of schools and pupils have enjoyed it very much. We hope you and your pupils will enjoy it too.

Steps I and II will only be needed the first time you organise a debate.

Explain to pupils that for effective debating they should respect each other’s opinion and be polite. The aim of debating is not to find out whose point of view is correct but to exchange opinions, express diversity, and have fun.

Step I

Elicit what pupils know about debates. You could ask questions such as:

- 1) What is a debate?
- 2) Where do we have debates?
- 3) Have you ever taken part in a debate? When? What was the debate about?
- 4) Who takes part in debates?
- 5) Why do we have debates?
- 6) What happens in a debate?
- 7) Where do we sit in a debate?

Step II

Explain that today the class is going to hold a debate. They are going to debate the topic (motion) “It is not good to do professional sport”. The class will be divided into two. Half of the class agree with/are for the motion, and half disagree/are against.

Step III

Choose one pupil to be the chairperson. You could choose the best student in the class (so that s/he does not dominate the debate or inhibit other pupils from speaking) or you could choose a shy student who might not normally speak.

Step IV

Tell the groups they should prepare a piece of paper with a line down the middle. On the left hand side, they should write the reasons they think the other group will give. On the right hand side, they write their reasons. Each person in the group should have their own copy of the list.

Write the following table on the blackboard and tell the pupils to copy it.

For	Against
too much effort, much time, little time for the family, sometimes dangerous, little free time, special food, unhappy if they don't win, create problems for their body	good for the country, famous in your country, much money and prizes, travelling a lot, meet new friends, visit a lot of countries, buy souvenirs, keep fit

Step V

Once groups have started on their lists and you are confident they know what to do, brief the chairperson on his/her role and give him/her a slip of paper with some of the things she/he can say, e.g.

Ladies and gentlemen. Welcome to class We are here today to debate the motion Pupils for the motion are sitting on my left, pupils against the motion are sitting on my right. We have ... minutes for the debate. Please raise your hand when you wish to speak. I decide the person to speak. Please be polite and don't interrupt. No-one may speak for more than 1 minute. At the end we are going to have a vote. Let's begin.

(Turns to the "For" group).

Your time is up.

Next speaker please.

Order! Order!

That's all we have time for.

Please vote now. If you are for the motion, raise your hand. (Counts.) If you are against, raise your hands. (Counts).

The Fors/Againsts are the winners.

Step VI

Revise how to give an opinion, if necessary, and how to agree/disagree. If necessary, write the phrases on the blackboard.

e.g. I think that.....

Sorry, I don't agree. We know that..... so

It's true that..... but

Step VII

Ask the pupils to arrange the classroom with the "Fors" opposite the "Againsts" and the chairman in the middle. Give each person except the chairman a small piece of paper. When a pupil speaks, s/he puts the paper in a box.

Every pupil must get rid of the paper, no pupil can speak if s/he has used her paper. This ensures that all pupils take part and no pupil dominates.

Explain that you will not take part in the debate. The chairperson is in charge and the pupils must do what he/she says. Explain that at the end of the debate the chairperson will ask everyone to vote. At that point they may vote according to their own ideas, not according to their role in the debate.

Step VIII

Ask the chairman to begin the debate by reading from the paper you have given him/her. Do not interrupt the debate, try to sit in an inconspicuous place and note down any repeated mistakes pupils make, any particularly good things they say, any things they want to say but can't/or say in mother tongue.

You will need these notes for feedback at the end of the debate.

Make sure that after the given minutes the chairperson ends the debate and organises the vote.

Step IX

After the vote bring the debate to a close. Let the pupils return to their proper seats. Then ask them for feedback on the activity. You could ask:

Did you enjoy the debate?

Why?/Why not?

Then you can tell them your feedback on their performance.

Activity 2 Answer the questions and make a poster. 20 min

Objectives: to understand the importance of doing sport;
to develop presentation skills

STEP 1: Put the pupils in groups of 4/5. Say: "You are going to make a poster."

STEP 2: Ask them to read and answer the questions about sport.

- 1) Is sport important in your life? Why?/Why not?
- 2) Do you like doing or watching sport? Why?
- 3) What sport is your favourite? Why?
- 4) What good things do you have when you do sport?
- 5) What results do you have in sport?

STEP 3: Each person in the group works on one question for the poster, draw or write some ideas.

STEP 4: Then they share their ideas with the rest of their group and make their group's poster.

STEP 5: Groups make a presentation of their posters. Then they choose the best poster of the class.

Homework

Ask the pupils to read at home the stories "Win or lose" and "The horse riding", and get prepared for class discussion.

HOME READING 3

Win or lose

Objectives: to develop critical thinking;
to develop understanding of values such as fair play and honesty;
to improve pupils' emotional and cognitive development

STEP 1: Ask the pupils to read the story "Win or lose" one more time.

STEP 2: Ask the following questions for understanding:

- 1) What did Pete like most of all? Why?
- 2) Was Pete good at all the games?
- 3) What did Pete do if he could not play the game well?
- 4) What kind of boy was Albert?
- 5) What game was Albert good at?
- 6) Who won the table football? Why?
- 7) What did older children say about Pete? Why?

STEP 3: Have a class discussion on the topic: “Is it right to cheat in games? Why/Why not?”

STEP 4: Sum up that the desire to always win at everything, to the extent of resorting to cheating, is the greatest obstacle to winning when winning is most important.

The horse riding

Objectives: to develop critical thinking;
to read for pleasure

STEP 1: Ask the pupils to read the story “The horse riding” one more time.

STEP 2: Ask the following questions for understanding:

- 1) What problem did Jimmy have?
- 2) What did he do every day?
- 3) Did he lose weight? Why?

Homework

Ask the pupils to get prepared for Test 1.

The first Olympic Games took place in Greece nearly three thousand years ago. The Games happened every four years and during the games there were no wars. So athletes from different countries could travel to and from the Games. But the Games at that time had only one event – a short race across a stadium. Then some more events appeared: boxing, wrestling, jumping and others. At that time only men could participate in the games.

Then the Olympic Games stopped for about 1000 years. Only in 1894 Pierre de Coubertin of France organized the International Olympic Committee (IOC). The first modern Olympic Games were in Greece where the first Olympic Games took place. But women started participating in Games in 1900.

Now there are Winter Olympics, Summer Olympics and Paralympics for athletes with disabilities. Not so long ago Youth Games appeared for athletes between the ages of 14 and 18. The winners get medals. Third place wins a bronze, second place wins a silver and first place gets a gold medal.

STEP 1: The pupils in pairs read and answer the questions. Ask them to cover the text in 2b.

STEP 2: When they finish, say they will check their answers in Activity 2b.

NB: You can use the notes below to help the pupils answer the questions.

1) The five Olympic circles represent the five continents: Africa, North and South America, Asia and Australia. They are connected to symbolize the sports friendship amongst all the people in the world.

2) The rings are five interlocking rings, coloured blue, yellow, black, green, and red on a white field, known as the "Olympic rings". The symbol was originally designed in 1912 by de Coubertin. He appears to have intended the rings to represent the five continents: Europe, Asia, Africa, Oceania, and America. According to Coubertin, the colours of the rings together with the white of the background included the colours composing every competing nation's flag at the time.

3) The Olympics Motto – Citius, Altius, Fortius.

A friend of Baron Pierre de Coubertin, Father Henri Martin Didon of the Dominican order, was the principal of Arcueil College, near Paris. An energetic teacher, he used the discipline of sport as a powerful educational tool. One day, following an inter-school athletics meeting, Didon ended his speech quoting three Latin words: Citius, Altius, Fortius (Faster, Higher, Stronger). Struck by the succinctness of this phrase, Baron Pierre de Coubertin made it the Olympic motto, pointing out that “Athletes need ‘freedom of excess.’ That is why we gave them this motto ... a motto for people who dare to try to break records.”

4) The most important thing in the Olympic Games is not to win but to take part.

5) The International Olympic Committee. The IOC is the organisation that governs the games. It decides which sports and events are held at the games. The IOC also selects the host city for the summer and winter games, at least seven years before they take place. Cities that want the games must show that they have enough stadiums for all events.

Activity 2b Read and check your answers. 7 min

The pupils read and check their answers.

People all around the world enjoy drinking Coca-Cola. It is popular both in America and the world. Its story started in the USA more than 100 years ago but its recipe was different from today. The name of Coca-Cola was the idea of Frank Robinson, the book-keeper of Dr. Pemberton. In fact, Frank Robinson created the first famous Coca-Cola logo. In its first year, Coke (a nickname for Coca-Cola) was not a success. In 1887, Asa Candler bought the recipe from John Pemberton. With a lot of advertising and a good business plan Coca-Cola became one of the most popular drinks. In 1892, a second Coca-Cola company appeared and this is the Coca-Cola Company that still stands today.

In fact, the first bottles of Coca-Cola appeared in 1894, and the first cans of Coca-Cola in 1955.

There were a lot of advertisements in many newspapers and magazines, on the posters and on many billboards on the roads. In addition, Coca-Cola also used radio.

Many people think that Coca-Cola gave the picture of Santa Clause as an old man in a red suit with a white beard. Today, the Coca-Cola Company is still one of the largest advertisers in the world. It not only advertises in newspapers, radio, television, film and on the Internet, but also advertises at sporting and other events. During the 1970's one of the radio programmes produced a hit song "I'd like to teach the world to sing".

1928 - Investment begins in Cadbury Dairy Milk ads

A huge success from day one, Cadbury Dairy Milk first hit the shelves in 1925. But surprisingly, little money was put into advertising it until 1928.

No one knew quite what to say about it - some ads talked about its 'rich milky flavour' others said 'rich in cream'. It didn't matter though - by 1928 it was the biggest selling chocolate product in Britain.

At this point Cadbury thought investment into advertising, stressing its high milk content. From 1928 a series of poster campaigns using the iconic 'glass and a half' measure of milk established Cadbury Dairy Milk as one of the first truly recognizable brands on the high street. The glass and a half's simple message of food value combined with enjoyable eating has found its way on to TV ads and wrappers. And it's still there today - becoming synonymous with Cadbury Dairy Milk worldwide.

John Cadbury, who founded the family company in 1824, paid a lot of attention to advertising. When he opened his first shop, he spent lots of money on its decoration. In this shop a Chinese man in traditional Chinese costume worked. It made a lot of people visit this shop.

In 1824, his first ad was published in the Birmingham Gazette. In the 1866 advertisements, he said that this chocolate had a little fat and good taste. It was cheap and there were no bad ingredients. He also added that his chocolate was clean and it could treat different illnesses. People started to buy more and more of this chocolate.

In 1900, Cadbury started publishing posters with ads. There were ads in different magazines. After the First World War, Cadbury organized excursions to his factory. Cadbury Dairy Milk was sold at busy public events. Cadbury became the nation's leading company.

In 1935, a film was made to advertise Cadbury. Later there were radio programmes about Cadbury.

During the Second World War (1939-1945), Cadbury made its products with dry milk because there was little milk in the country. After the War, Cadbury opened Chocolate Houses which were like cafes. Advertising on television started in 1955.

Now ads are shown on TV and all over the Internet.

- 1) In 1824, a) Cadbury made its products with dry milk.
- 2) In 1866, b) Cadbury became the nation's leading company
- 3) In 1900, c) advertising are shown on TV and on the Internet.
- 4) In 1935, d) the advertisements said that chocolate was cheap and there were no bad ingredients.
- 5) In 1939-1945, e) advertising on television started.

My little sister learns English with channel Bolajon. There are colourful and interesting educational programmes like "English World", "ABC Kids" and "Bravo English!"

Interviewer: Oh, so many educational programmes on Uzbek television.

Interviewer: I see. What about programmes for pleasure?

Interviewer: Okay. Thank you.

Interviewer: Laziza, do you like watching TV?

Interviewer: What channels do you like best?

Laziza: I like "National Geographic" and "Animal Planet".

Interviewer: What about programmes for pleasure?

Laziza: I like watching quizzes like "The field of wonders". But I don't think watching TV is a good thing.

Interviewer: Why?

Laziza: I think it's a waste of time. And watching a lot of television is dangerous for your eyes.

Interviewer: So you think watching TV is unhealthy, don't you?

1) Hi! My name's Tom. I'm from the USA. My hobby is swimming. I go to the swimming pool five times a week. My swimming pool is very good. My swimming instructor teaches us to swim well and to be careful in water. Last month I participated in a swimming competition. Ten swimmers from three schools took part in the competition. I won first prize. Swimming is interesting and pleasant, and it helps me keep fit.

2) Hi! My name's Ella. I live in Northern Ireland, the UK. Gardening is my hobby. I like flowers. I liked flowers even when I was a little child. When someone gave me flowers, it was the best present for me. We usually spend summers at our summer house in a small village. I help my parents to plant the flowers and water the plants. I'm reading an interesting book on gardening. The book helps me to grow flowers in our climate. I hope to have nice roses next summer.

3) Hi! My name's Mateo. I'm fourteen years old. I live in Madrid, Spain. I like doing karate after school. It's fun. I learn how to fight and be strong. In the summer holiday, I go to a karate camp with my friend. We learn karate and have fun together. Every year there's a karate competition in Madrid. Last year I went to the competition and won a silver medal. The only problem with karate is that you work hard and you are tired! I don't want to be tired!

4) Hi! My name's Isabella. I'm thirteen years old. I come from Rome, Italy. I draw pictures. It's my hobby. I draw all the time. I draw things for my friends: greeting cards and posters. Sometimes I draw in class, but my teacher doesn't want me to draw. She wants me to listen to her. So I have a problem. But I love art lessons! Last week I went to the art museum and saw some famous pictures. It was great! Drawing is fun. It's easy: you need paper and pencils.

5) Hi! I'm Anzu. In Japanese it means "apricot". My hobby is reading. I like to read books in my free time. I like funny stories, fairy tales, and poems for children. I like to read fairy tales very much. My favourite fairy tale is “The Snow Queen” by Hans Christian Andersen. I’ve read it several times. Gerda is my favourite fairy-tale character. I usually read in the evening before sleep. I also like to read in a garden or in a park, sitting on a bench. I began to read short stories in English. It’s difficult for me but I want to know English well.

6) Hi! I’m Roberto. I come from Brazil. I don’t like sport very much, and I’m not very good at it. I like music. My hobby is playing the guitar. Sometimes I play at concerts with other children. The only problem is that my big brother plays the guitar too, and there’s only one guitar in the house. He doesn’t want me to play the guitar. He wants it all the time! It’s a problem! Last month a famous rock singer came to Brazil, and I went to the concert with my brother. It was great!

The First Geographer

What is geography? We learn about different places, continents and countries as well as oceans, rivers, deserts or mountains on our planet. However, we do not only look at facts about nature and animals but we also learn how people live in different parts of the world, learn about different languages, cultures and different traditions. We also learn how to help our planet.

The Greek scientist Eratosthenes was the first person who used the word “geography” 2,000 years ago. He is called the “Father of Geography”. Eratosthenes was the first to draw a world map. He was a mathematician, astronomer and poet. That map was different from modern maps because people did not travel much and they did not know anything about the Americas. The word “geography” consists of two Greek words which mean “earth” and “writing”. This means to draw, describe or write about the earth. The word “geographer” means a person who studies geography, the environment and people. Maps are made by geographers.

STEP 1: The pupils in pairs answer the questions.

STEP 2: Check the answers involving the whole class.

Answer key:

1) Is the Aral Sea as big now as it was in 1960?

No. Formerly, it was the fourth largest lake in the world with an area of 68,000 sq km. The Aral Sea has been shrinking since the 1960s after the rivers that fed it were diverted by Soviet irrigation projects. By 1997, it had declined to 10% of its original size, splitting into four lakes: the North Aral Sea, the eastern and western basins of the once far larger South Aral Sea, and one smaller intermediate lake. By 2009, the southeastern lake had disappeared and the southwestern lake had retreated to a thin strip at the western edge of the former southern sea; in subsequent years, occasional water flows have led to the southeastern lake sometimes being replenished to a small degree. Now it is only 8,000 sq km. Satellite images taken by NASA in August 2014 revealed that for the first time in modern history the eastern basin of the Aral Sea had completely dried up. The eastern basin is now called the Aralkum Desert.

2) Is the Amu Darya as long as the Syr Darya?

No. The Amu Darya is shorter than the Syr Darya. The Amu Darya is 1,415 km long, and the Syr Darya is 2,212 km long.

3) Is the Indian Ocean as big as the Pacific Ocean?

No. The Indian Ocean is the third largest of the world's oceanic divisions, covering 70,560,000 square kilometres. The Pacific Ocean is the largest and deepest of Earth's oceanic divisions, covering 165,250,000 square kilometres.

4) Is the population in Asia as big as in Africa?

No. The population in Asia is bigger than in Africa. Asia – 4,462,676,731 (2016 year); Africa – 1,225,080,510 (2016 year)

5) Is Mount Kilimanjaro as high as Mount Everest?

No. Mount Everest is the Earth's highest mountain, with a peak at 8,850 metres high, Mount Kilimanjaro in Africa is 4,895 metres.

DVD script:

Guide: These tourists have been to several countries along the Silk Road. It was a great trip. They have visited the old, historic cities and some small villages. Listen to their stories.

Fred: Hello, my name's Fred. I'm from the USA. Do I like the trip on the Silk Road? Sure. It was great! The most interesting in my life. I have visited many countries: South Africa, Brazil, Mexico. But this trip is the most exciting. I'm interested in handmade things so I was waiting for the visit to Bukhara.

I bought a carpet. It's beautiful. It's more beautiful than I hoped. My friends want to have one too!

Roger: I'm Roger from Great Britain. It's my first trip to the East and I enjoyed it. Usually I spend my holiday in Europe. But now I know that visiting China is more interesting than Europe. Culture, food and lifestyle is completely different. The Great Wall in China is amazing! It's bigger and longer than I expected.

Victoria: My name's Victoria. What I liked in the trip? You can't believe, it's the Kyzylkum desert. I live in Sydney, Australia. The trees and mountains are green all the year round. I didn't expect the Kyzylkum desert to be so beautiful. The mornings are beautiful. In the morning the clouds are different colours. It's more interesting than I expected.

Alisher: My name's Alisher. I'm from Tashkent, Uzbekistan. I've never been to Khiva before. This town is amazing. The town-museum under the sky! When you walk in its narrow streets, you feel time. It's like living in a fairy tale about Aladdin. Khiva is older than I thought. And more fantastic.

4 Read and say True or False. (7x2=14)

e.g. Cambodia has one of the best railways. False

- 1) Trains in Cambodia run between different countries. False
- 2) Trains in Cambodia were very slow. True
- 3) The people of Cambodia made a new kind of train. False
- 4) Local people called it “Norris”, a new kind of transport. True
- 5) People can sleep on a bamboo train. True
- 6) Bamboo trains are only used by local people. False
- 7) Cambodia is not a rich country. True

Some years ago Cambodia had one of the world’s worst railways. Trains ran very slowly between the villages. And there were not many trains. So people in the north-west of the country decided to do something to travel faster. They have made their own transport. They took pieces of bamboo, train wheels and made a machine. The local people call it “Norris”, but visitors from other countries call them “bamboo trains”. To travel by this machine looks dangerous but the drivers say it is not a dangerous transport. “I use the bamboo trains to go to Battambang from my house so I can buy medicine”, said Sao Nao, “on a bamboo train I can sit down and go to sleep. I like it.”

Bamboo trains have become a part of the Cambodian transport system. They take people and their luggage from one village to another. They are also used by rich tourists who pay $2 for a ride. Cambodia is a very poor country and this is a lot of money for its people. A ride on the bamboo trains, perhaps with a chicken, some dogs, and people, is a great way to see the country.

Philip: As you know, Australia today is a country which attracts a lot of visitors. Holidaymakers are fond of visiting Dreamworld. It's a park on the Gold Coast just 40 minutes from Brisbane. We organise groups of about 25 people who travel to the Gold Coast in comfortable buses.

Announcer: The Gold Coast? Is that the place where Captain James Cook landed in 1770?

Philip: Er...yes, he landed on the east coast and raised the British flag there. Anyway... Dreamworld has a lot of attractions, like roller-coaster, and lots more. There's a special place in Dreamworld – Koala Country, with a full day's entertainment.

Announcer: What about the well-known Australian animals? Can visitors see them in Dreamworld? You know, typical Australian animals: kangaroos, emus...

Philip: Yes, and koalas too. You can even cuddle a koala and take a photo with it.

Announcer: Oh, I know a lot of children would love to do that.

Philip: (laughing) And grown-ups too! Well, I could tell you a lot more about Dreamworld, but why not come and see everything with your own eyes? You know, once seen never forgotten.

DVD script:

Announcer: Hello and welcome to the programme "Open Road". Today we're talking to a group of teenagers from London schools. I'm sure you all like travelling, don't you?

Voices of children: Yes. Of course, I do. We do.

Announcer: Do you usually travel alone or with your parents or friends? Let's begin with you, Andrew.

Andrew: Well, first of all, I don't travel much.

Announcer: But do you go anywhere on holiday?

Andrew: Oh, yes. Usually my parents and I go to Wales where my grandma lives.

Announcer: Aha! So, you travel with your parents. Are they good travelling companions?

Andrew: You see, I don't quite understand what you mean by a good companion. My Mum and Dad know a lot about the places we visit and ... er... it's fun to listen to their stories. But ...

Announcer: Yes?

Andrew: My Mum enjoys walking near the lakes and my Dad is fond of mountain walks...

Announcer: And you?

Andrew: I'd rather ride a bike.

Announcer: So you and your parents like different sorts of holiday activities?

Andrew: Yes, and that's why I sometimes dream of biking holiday with a group of boys and girls. Biking is really great!

Announcer: Thank you, Andrew. Emma, what sort of people do you like travelling with?

Emma: I think it's good to go camping with lively people, people who know a lot of games. They're never dull.

Announcer: And do you know anyone who is never dull?

Emma: Why, yes, of course. My friend Melissa, for example.

Melissa: You know, Emma and I belong to our school Hiking Club and we often go on hikes in the north of England. I think hiking with friendly companions is wonderful. One of the best companions I know is our teacher.

Emma: Oh, yes, I agree. Ms Stafford is a good teacher and companion.

Announcer: A good teacher and a good travelling companion in one person! Well, girls, I'm glad to meet someone as lucky as you. It has been very interesting to talk to you all. Thank you, everybody.

Activity 2a Read and answer the question. 5 min
